

Arias, Repulsed by Hurley, Entertained by Roosevelt

WASHINGTON—The sight of President Arias of Panama, being regally entertained at the White House this week, must cause pains of anguish to Patrick J. Hurley, ex-Secretary of War.

Once before Arias was an acute pain in the neck to Pat Hurley. That was when the present President of Panama was Panamanian Minister in Washington and let the newspapers in on the fact that Pat Hurley's War Department was the landlord for 300 saloons, two breweries and two blocks of disorderly houses in the city of Colon.

That was in the days when the United States was not only an avowed prohibition country but when Mr. Hurley's chief in the White House went out of his way to say so.

Hurley, confronted with Arias' facts, sputtered and fumed. He claimed that the United States merely owned the land, had no control over the use of the buildings after the land was leased.

"All right," returned Arias, "turn the land back to Panama and get out of the liquor and red-light business."

And that is one of the things he has been talking to Roosevelt about now.

Stumped

The NRA is stumped. Despite its corps of experts, statisticians, and economists, the great recovery agency is frankly at a loss. For weeks it has been seeking the answer to the question, what is a fair price for a hair-cut. It is still no nearer a solution than when it first grappled with the problem.

Over 200 barbers' codes have been submitted to Deputy Administrator John Power. This is ten times as many as the number presented by the Bituminous coal industry, which once held the record.

But even the 200 codes represent only a fraction of the country's 250,000 barber shops. The price levels advocated in the codes range from 35 cents in small towns to 50 cents in cities. California barbers, however, are out for a 65 cent minimum.

Only one thing has been definitely determined. Tips will not be considered. That is final.

Danger Signals

The State Department has been quiet about it, but the disarmament deadlock between France and Germany has caused even more worry than last May when Roosevelt sent a message to the entire world in order to head off Hitler.

What worries the State Department are reports that Germany is in a war mood. In Berlin, people are being taught how to hide in cellars, extinguish lights, keep their shades down—all in preparation for air raids. On the athletic fields young men are drilling, talking about war. In the universities regular courses in military strategy are taught, special instructors have been introduced.

Despite this, some of the high-ups in the State Department still believe in soft-pedalling the Nazi question.

Credit

Assistant Secretary of Labor McGrady deserves credit for the plan of having obstreperous steel moguls summoned to the White House last Saturday.

General Hugh Johnson wanted the Big Stick wielded on the defiant steel operators. But on the ground that it might not be in keeping with the dignity of the office of President, he hesitated suggesting to Roosevelt that he call the steel men in.

McGrady, his closest and most trusted adviser, held no such view. He argued that the steel barons were defying the government, that it was every bit within the dignity of the President to call them to account. Johnson was persuaded, laid the proposal before F. D. R., who acted forthwith.

OHIO SHERIFF'S KILLERS HUNTED

PICKREL SPEAKS HERE ON OLD AGE PENSIONS

U.S. TO GUARD TOUGHEST MEN ON ROCKY ISLE

S. C. Grant, Former Guard
There, Vouches For Roughness of Place.

GRANT GUARD THERE

A local angle developed today in the selection of rocky Alcatraz Island, off the coast of California, for the nation's worst criminals when it was learned Sam C. Grant, local coal dealer, at one time served there as a guard.

Mr. Grant guarded military prisoners on Alcatraz for 30 days while he was a member of Company H, 1st Infantry in the U. S. army, in 1889.

He vouches for its ruggedness.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Alcatraz military prison, high on a rocky island in San Francisco Bay, has been selected as the spot where the country's toughest killers, kidnapers and racketeers will be confined after their conviction in federal courts, Attorney General Cummings announced today.

TO SEND 600
Negotiations have been completed for its transfer to the department of justice. The military prisoners will be taken to other institutions. About 600 may be confined on Alcatraz Island. Cummings contemplated the immediate transfer of about 75 prisoners from Atlanta prison and the same number from Leavenworth.

Habitual criminals of the type known to students of penology as recidivists, repeating crimes at every opportunity, will be taken to Alcatraz. Cummings pointed out that criminals who make trouble in the federal institutions, who continually attempt to escape, those not susceptible to rehabilitation, those who have influential outside contacts and who make business of a crime will be confined on the island.

Cummings said the island prison is about a mile from the nearest land, located on a precipitous island. The current is swift and escapes are practically impossible. Explaining that about both Atlanta and Leavenworth prisons there has arisen a criminal element drawn to keep in contact with the prisoners, Cummings said it would be impossible to establish such groups about Alcatraz.

MOTORISTS HURT

Sheriff Charles Radcliff was called to the scene of the wreck and found a truck and a Graham-Paige badly wrecked. No one who knew anything about the collision could be found.

Coming back to Circleville, Sheriff Radcliff picked up a youth who gave his name as James Steince, 17½, Feiser-st, Columbus, who said the men in the Graham-Paige tossed him from the car north of this city. He did not know their names and Sheriff Radcliff is not certain whether the injured men were in the truck or the automobile.

DAVIS FREED BY U. S. JURY

Senator Leaves To Address
Labor; Weeps As Verdict Is Delivered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Acquitted of charges of violating the Federal anti-lottery laws to the cheers of a packed federal court room, U. S. Senator James J. Davis (R) of Pennsylvania, today was enroute to Washington to address the American Federation of Labor convention.

Davis, director-general of the Loyal Order of Moose, and Theodore C. Miller, head of the propaganda department of the order, were freed on the lottery charges by a jury in United States District Court which deliberated three hours and five minutes after a trial lasting nearly a month.

The white-haired senator and former Secretary of Labor wept openly when the jury came in with its verdict.

Then, turning to Miller, he clasped the hands of his fellow official and hurried to thank the jurors for their decision.

"I offered my thanks to God when the verdict came in," Davis said as he left court. "I never lost my faith because I knew I was innocent."

The government claimed, during the trial, that Davis controlled the Moose organization department and had knowledge of charity balls and prize drawings conducted by the order in 1931 which the prosecution claimed were really lotteries.

LEGION, LABOR UNITY ASKED

Edward Hayes, New Commander, Says Organization
Should Boost NRA.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Declaring the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor stood shoulder to shoulder on many national policies—anti-inflation, anti-communism, restriction of immigration, Edward A. Hayes, commander of the Legion, called for a coalition of the two organizations to fight for national recovery under the NRA in an address today before the A. F. of L. convention.

"The Legion, like Labor, also stands for a sound and stable currency," said Commander Hayes.

"The American service man wants to know that his dollar is going to buy the same amount each day. He does not want it to fluctuate."

"There may be some who will obtain advantages from inflation of the dollar but these advantages are not for the members of the A. F. of L. or the American Legion."

TODAY'S THE DAY

Congressman Mell G. Underwood attended the meeting.

It is reported by committeemen that the resolution was aimed not so much at Robert Immell, of Yellowbud, prominent official of the bank, but at the present organization in charge of the bank's operations there.

Several Ross-co farmers, anxiously awaiting a loan, report that they can get no action and an investigation is said to show that but few loans have been completed.

The committee also re-affirmed its endorsements of Miss Mary Towell of Frankfort and Fred B. Mowery of Kingston for postmasterhips in the two villages.

THUGS MURDER LIMA OFFICER; OUTLAW FREED

Jess Sarber's Wife, Deputy Put in Cell By Killers.

STATE IS AROUSED

John Dillinger, Bank Robber, Given Liberty.

LIMA, Oct. 13.—Intensive search was being conducted throughout Ohio today for three gunmen who invaded the Allen county jail here late yesterday, shot and fatally wounded Sheriff Jess Sarber and then released John Dillinger, 30, notorious bank robber, said to be wanted in three states.

The gunmen, along with Dillinger, who was being held in the county jail here to face charges in connection with the robbery of a bank at Bluffton, O., escaped without being sighted, leaving officials no clue as to which way they made their get-away.

Police and county officials throughout Ohio and particularly the central section of the state however, were notified to be on a lookout for the gunmen. Before lapsing into unconsciousness last night, Sheriff Sarber declared to attendants that he had recognized one of the bandits as "Harry Cope-land," whom he said was one of the 10 convicts who escaped from the Michigan City, Ind., prison last Sept. 15.

BRANDISHED WEAPON

The gunmen entered the county jail last night and announced to Sheriff Sarber, who was alone at the time, that they had come "to get Dillinger." When the Sheriff demanded to see the credentials of his visitors, one of them, the leader, drew a revolver and replied:

"These are all the credentials we need."

Sheriff Sarber started to reach for his revolver in his desk drawer but as he did so, the bandit leader without warning fired point blank. The bullet struck Sarber in the abdomen.

Attracted by the shooting, Mrs. Sarber, wife of the sheriff, and

ning's Tragic Accident

Need of Offense 'Tiger' Problem

With no game scheduled until next Friday, the Circleville Tigers are trying to figure a system which will make the team an offensive threat. In three games played this year, all of which were lost, the Red and Black has scored one touchdown. That was against Holy Rosary high school, Columbus, which team went on to win 7-6.

The Tigers play Grandview's Bobcats here on Friday, Oct. 20, in another Central Buckeye league fray. Whether or not Grandview is as strong as Bexley is yet to be determined but fans can rest assured the Grandview outfit will be no set-up. Bill Zwick, Grandview mentor, does not put out that kind of eleven.

The Tigers started their season by losing to Lancaster in a game in which only one first down was made for the locals. They then outplayed but lost to little Holy Rosary. Next was the Bexley disaster.

The squad has been working diligently this week hoping to get into the victory column.

No game was scheduled for today, Friday the thirteenth.

THUGS MURDER

Deputy Wilbert Sharpe rushed into the office. They were met by the gunmen, overpowered and forced into a jail cell. Then, the gunmen went to Dillinger's cell and opened it with the keys they had taken from the body of the sheriff.

Although Sheriff Sarber had asserted a short time before his death that he had recognized one of the gunmen as "Harry Copeland," an escaped convict from the Michigan City, Ind., prison, Indiana state police reported that no one by that name was among the convicts who broke out of the prison Sept. 26.

NOTE IS OBTAINED

Police recalled, however, that Dillinger had been suspected while being held by Dayton police recently following his capture, of having aided in the Indiana prison break. At the time of Dillinger's capture in Dayton, police seized a note which was said to have diagrammed details of the escape plot.

Dillinger had been identified in connection with several bank robberies, including one at Indianapolis, another at Farrell, Pa., and also one at Bluffton, O. He was captured last Sept. 22 at Dayton in the house of a woman who was said to be a sister of one of the convicts who escaped from the Indiana prison.

At the time of the capture, police at Dayton were reported to have found $2,604 in new currency, four revolvers, a rifle, a shotgun and two suitcases containing ammunition in Dillinger's room.

Search for Dillinger and the three gunmen who affected his release from the jail here was hampered today by the fact that there were no eye-witnesses to the affair. The gunmen made a clean getaway and it was not known in which direction they fled.

SECTION TILTS FEATURE GRID

Vanderbilt Comes To Columbus; Carnegie, Kentucky Also Come to Ohio.

On the eve of a game that headlines the week-end college football program in Ohio, fans of the state and members of the Ohio State team as well looked back today at another game, one that stunned the football-conscious two years ago.

The game that is recalled so vividly is Ohio State's 1931 encounter with the Commodores of Vanderbilt University.

On that occasion a bewildered Ohio State team awoke at the half to find itself at the empty end of a 26-0 score. Staging a spirited rally in the second half, the Buckeye eleven piled up 21 points, not enough to escape such an overwhelming trouncing.

Tomorrow Ohio State, which rode roughshod over Virginia in the Buckeye's opening game, will tackle Vanderbilt again. And although Ohio State will bump up against a much stronger team than the one defeated 75 to 0 last week, the Bucks should have little trouble in coming out on top.

Others In Action

The game holds chief interest in the state, but 33 other Ohio teams and a Buckeye conference eleven from across the way in W. Virginia will also see action this week-end in contests that should show more clearly which teams are the big threats in the respective conferences.

Several other inter-sectional games as well attract interest. Carnegie Tech comes to Ohio tomorrow to tackle Xavier, whose ball-toter, Jordan, is high man in scoring in the state with 31 points. Xavier, whose goal line has not been crossed this season, has rolled up 76 points in three games.

Ohio Wesleyan, which has beaten Heidelberg and Dayton goes to Syracuse in another of tomorrow's inter-sectional games.

Only one Buckeye Conference contest is on tap, but it will be closely watched because it should serve as a good test of the strength of a new team in the circuit and the defending champion, Marshall College, the Huntington, W. Va., newcomer in the Buckeye Conference which made a flashy entry into the circuit by tripping Wittenberg 19 to 0, will come to Oxford for a game with Miami, last year's champion. Miami held a strong Indiana team to one touchdown and beat Hanover 14 to 0 in its first two games of the season.

'SELL GIANTS IN 2 WEEKS'

Three Syndicates Working For Purchase of Club, It Is Claimed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The New York Giants, champions of the baseball world, will not only be sold, as stated exclusively by the International News Service several weeks ago, but the sale is slated to be consummated within two weeks.

One of three groups interested in the purchase of the club has accountants working on the club books this week. One group is a syndicate headed by A. C. Blumenthal, theatrical producer.

Another is two or three millionaires who actually had the club bought last April when one of the three died as they were about to sign the papers. The survivors are trying to find a third friend to take their dead partner's place.

The third prospective purchaser is Jock Whitney, multimillionaire sportsman of turf fame.

The best bid so far made for 74 per cent of the stock of the club is Whitney's $1,900,000.

This 74 per cent includes the 52 per cent of the total stock now owned by Charles A. Stoneman and the holdings of John J. McGraw and Judge Francis X. McQuade.

DARBY SCHOOL NOTES

Do not forget the high school play "A Poor Married Man" this Friday night at 8:15 p. m. Admission will be 10c and 20c.

Rev. Ensley gave a very interesting talk in Chapel last Friday morning. This was the first appearance of the new pastor in our school. We hope to hear him again on some future programs.

A party of sixty-eight attended the Virginia-Ohio State football game at the Ohio State Stadium last Saturday. They had a fine time but would have enjoyed the game more if the score had been closer.

The new Pupils' Reading Circle books have arrived and been distributed to the various rooms. We were able to purchase three books for each grade and five for the high school with the funds allotted to us by the Board of Education. A circulating schedule has been arranged whereby all the pupils in each of the grades will have an opportunity to read all the books in their respective grades, both at Derby and Era.

Leo Foster, a new pupil, has entered the Freshman Class, thus raising our enrollment in high school to 81.

The second regular meeting of the P. T. A. will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 18 at 8 p. m. A good program has been prepared, and Rev. Price of Harrisburg has been secured to give a talk. All interested in the welfare of the schools are invited to attend. A report on the membership drive will be made at that time.

This is the last week in the first six-weeks period and grade cards will be sent home next Wednesday for the first time this year. Now is the time to begin trying to remedy any trouble your child may be having with his school work. Consultation with the child's teacher and then the cooperation of the parents with the teacher will remedy practically any difficulty the child of average ability may have. Careful inspection of the report cards now may avert disaster next spring.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Dinunzo, quarterback, and Buttkis, his understudy, are recovering from recent sickness and Syracuse will be in good shape to meet Ohio Wesleyan, tomorrow.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Eleven backs were included in the 27 Cornell players who left here last night for Ann Arbor to play Michigan. They were Ferraro, Switzer, Frederick, Goldbas, Grant, Stoffer, Terry, Condon, Pierce, Wilson and Goeffrion.

EMPLOYMENT AGAIN SHOWING INCREASE

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13.—For the sixth consecutive month, total employment gained in Ohio during September, it is shown in the monthly report of Ohio State University's bureau of business research.

September employment was 2.5 per cent above August and 38.9 per cent above the March low point.

"During this period of rising employment," the bureau says, "increases from the previous month amounted to 5.1 per cent in April, 6.6 per cent in May, 9.4 per cent in June, 5.9 per cent in July, 4.7 per cent in August, and 2.5 per cent in September. Thus since May, employment has continued to register gains each month, but at progressively lower rates.

"Employment in non-manufacturing industries in September recorded a gain of 7.1 per cent from August, due largely to a greater than usual gain in the retail and wholesale trade group. Manufacturing employment registered a gain of 1.9 per cent, while construction employment declined 2.2 per cent.

8 OF 11 INCREASE

"Eight of the 11 groups of manufacturing industries had employment increases last month, the report shows. The largest gain occurred in the machinery, paper and printing, and food products groups. In all 11 groups, employment was substantially above September, 1932. Twenty-two of 31 individual industries in the manufacturing group reported increase in employment for last month.

"September employment increases were noted in four of the eight chief cities," the bureau reports. "The increases amounted to 11.9 per cent in Toledo, 5.1 per cent in Cleveland, 4.7 per cent in Columbus and 3.2 per cent in Cincinnati, while decreases amounted to 1.1 per cent in Stark-co., 1.4 per cent in Dayton, 2.1 per cent in Youngstown, and 2.6 per cent in Akron. All eight cities reported appreciable gains over September, 1932. In the state outside these chief cities, September employment was 4.1 per cent above August, and 31.6 per cent above September of last year."

The bureau's statement is based on employment reports from 827 Ohio firms, of which 468 reported September increases, 251 decreases, and 108 no change from August.

October's Favorite Fruit in Three Good Dishes

This dish is German in origin and translated into American menus, it belongs on the luncheon card, with an accompaniment of Boston brown bread, a hot beverage and perhaps the whole thing preceded by a vegetable soup.

Apple Cheese

Core and peel good eating apples and cut into dice. To each cup of apples add one half cup chopped figs, and one orange cut in small pieces. Arrange the mixed fruit in the center of a dessert bowl, surround with a ring of cottage cheese and cover with thick, sour cream. Sprinkle thickly with chopped nuts.

Apples and Onions

Boil eight medium sized onions until tender, changing the water once during the cooking. Separate them into rings with a fork and arrange in layers in a buttered baking dish. Alternate these layers with layers of cooked apples, slices which have been steamed until tender. Season the onion layers with salt and pepper. Cover the top layer, which should be of apples, with buttered crumbs. Pour over the whole enough milk to nearly cover, brown in a moderate (350 degrees) oven.

Fried Apples Pie

Make a doughnut batter, roll a little thinner than for doughnuts and cut into rounds with a large cookie cutter. Put a teaspoon of sifted apple sauce, flavored with nutmeg and cinnamon, in the center of each.

Wet the edges of half of the rim, fold over the upper half and firmly press together, so that the apple will stay in. Fry in deep, hot fat, as for doughnuts.

BROTHERHOOD HAS DISCUSSION MEET

The Lutheran Brotherhood held its regular meeting Thursday evening in the parish house. John D. Hummel gave a short sketch of the events and conditions which led to the discovery of America.

A short business session was held after which E. Sensesbrenner and his committee fed the members sauerkraut and weiners.

The program for the evening was one of open discussion and constructive criticism of the Sunday school and brotherhood. Marion Sensesbrenner opened the meeting with a short talk on the Sunday school followed by a half hour of discussion by the members. Mr. Hummel opened the discussion of the brotherhood and his talk was also followed by some very constructive suggestions. The meeting was enjoyed with a great deal of good derived.

The next meeting will be for nomination of officers.

Baked Chutney With Bananas

THIS delicious chutney, to be served with hot or cold meats, with curry or a salad, is made in the oven. Use one dozen bananas; one pound dates; two pounds Bermuda onions cut into small pieces; one half teaspoon ground ginger; one teaspoon allspice; two cups cider vinegar; two thirds cup molasses; one teaspoon salt; one cup water. Cut the bananas and dates into small pieces; mix with the onions and seasonings, add the water and put into a baking dish. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) until a rich brown. Seal while hot, in freshly sterilized jars.

Banana Rice Pudding

Six bananas; four tablespoons sugar; one half cup water; half teaspoon lemon extract; four tablespoons rice; two cups milk; whites two eggs; one tablespoon sugar.

Peel and slice the bananas and cook them for ten minutes in a syrup made of the four tablespoons of sugar and the half cup of water, flavored with the lemon. Cook the rice in the milk, sweeten with the additional tablespoon of sugar, add the bananas, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle the top with finely chopped almonds and brown sugar and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) twenty minutes. Serve hot, with or without milk or cream.

MUHLBERG-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

The first and second grades are studying the calendar this week.

The attendance for the whole school has been very low during the past week.

Several friends surprised Rosalie Hulise Sunday afternoon with a farewell party. She is transferring to Jackson-Twp high school.

Misses Ruth Schellhase, Florence Hill, Louise Carpenter, and Medrith Brigner spent the week-end in Circleville.

Several of the high school students attended the Ohio State-Virginia football game Saturday. Among those attending were Mildred Beatty, Glendal Dick, Carl Hill, Harvey Brigner, and Mr. Stebelton.

The "Hen-Pecked Hero" has been chosen as the play to be given by the athletic association. A definite date has not yet been decided upon.

This week will end the first six weeks period of the school year.

Muhlberg-Twp school was among the first to report a 100 per cent membership of the Ohio Education Association. All of the teachers as follows have paid dues for the year 1933-34:

A new grindstone has been added to the equipment of the Manual Training room. This piece of equipment has been needed for some time and is greatly appreciated by both the teacher and all of the boys enrolled in the course. All of the edge tools are now being sharpened and repaired.

Asparagus In Its Most Popular Form

To serve asparagus Hollandaise, modern cooks are following this new recipe: two tablespoons butter; two tablespoons flour; one cup milk; one half teaspoon salt; one fourth teaspoon white pepper; one fourth cup mayonnaise.

Melt the butter in the double boiler and blend into the flour. Then add the milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth. Add the salt and pepper. Remove from the heat and slowly add the mayonnaise. Continue stirring. This makes one cup of sauce delicious with asparagus or broccoli or any other cooked green vegetables or fish.

How many days in the month do you feel your best? You can add to these sunshine days by simply obeying nature's laws.

The first of these laws is regular elimination. Avoid common constipation by eating a delicious cereal.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help aid regularity. ALL-BRAN also contains twice the iron of an equal weight of beef liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much more pleasant than pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Sound Recovery

THE upward trend in America's foreign trade during the first six months of this year, as reported by the United States chamber of commerce, is evidence that industrial improvement is not confined to the United States. The fact that improvement is taking place in other countries can be taken as indicating that the upturn here has a sound foundation.

Although sharp expansion of exports was in evidence since February, the chamber said, June saw the first gain over a corresponding month of the preceding year since September, 1929. This probably was the most significant feature of the report.

Credit for the general improvement in the United States was given to three factors: the general improvement in business tone and purchasing power of many of America's important foreign customers; a stronger competitive status of American exporters due to the depreciation of the dollar, and increased industrial activity in the United States.

"Exports for the second quarter of 1933," the chamber reported, "were 3 per cent larger by value than those of the first quarter. Normally there is a seasonal falling off of some 10 per cent. May exports were 11 per cent above April. June 5 per cent above May. June also registered the first monthly gain over a corresponding month of the preceding year since September 1929."

"The total value of our exports for the first six months of 1933 amounted to $669,384,000, which was about 20 per cent below the value of the same half of 1932 and 63 per cent under the five-year average. On a value basis 22 per cent of our 50 chief exports, all manufactured products, were larger in the first half of this year than a year ago, as follows: Iard, coal-tar products, agricultural machinery and implements, aircraft, cured meats and shoulders, rosin, paraffin wax, oilwell and refinery machinery, iron and steel scrap, spirits of turpentine, and accounting and calculating machines."

"On a quantity basis 42 per cent of the exports showed an increase. Out of 99 items 41 gains ranging from 0.5 per cent to 1,690 per cent. Most of these signs of increased trade occur in manufactured articles."

"These figures supply convincing proof that recovery is in progress."

The World series is also a relief measure. The gate receipts both the fans and the clubs.

Too Many Strikes

THE country has cause to view with deep concern the large number of strikes now afflicting various lines of industry.

It had been expected that the system of strikes under which business has been placed would reduce labor disputes to a minimum, and that the resulting harmony would give impetus to general recovery. From one end of the country to the other, however, there are strikes and rumors of strikes. Men are refusing to work where work for them is available. Various reasons are given for the walk-outs. Some of the strikers are due to alleged code violations by employers.

It is an observable fact that strikes are more numerous in time of prosperity than in time of depression. The present labor disputes, therefore, are regarded by some as further evidence of returning prosperity.

It is hard to believe, though, that business recovery would not advance at a much more rapid pace if harmony instead of discord existed in the industrial world.

The duty is no less upon labor leaders than on the NRA to seek by all proper means to discourage strikes while business of all kinds is trying so hard to get upon its legs again. Machinery is provided in the industrial act for the settlement of disputes and this ought to be brought into operation without delay. Otherwise, a setback threatens to be given recovery and at a time when the effects might be much more serious than labor officials think.

The fans did their part.

THAT'S MY BOY!

by FRANCIS WALLACE
AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

SYNOPSIS

Tommy Randolph, future football hero, was "always different" even as a baby. Born in a tiny Middle West factory town, he was the delight of his humble parents, Mom and Pop. The latter, a durable Democrat, wanted to name the boy William Jennings Bryan, but Uncle Louie, another indubitable Democrat, prevailed in having the infant christened Thomas Jefferson. Sturdy little Tommy paid no attention to strange baby carriage ogles until Ole Lize, feared and aged colored woman, peered like a witch at him one day; he smiled, and Mom was amazed when the cackling crone put "a good wish" on him. . . . As Tommy grew, he was still "different," running away from a boy's job in the glassworks where Pop and his brother, Pete, worked. Tommy connected with the local News office and then shocked Pop by declaring he intended going to high school where he soon won renown about town at "the football," much to Mom's amazed pleasure. She meets Charlie Whitney, millionaire factory owner, as she is shopping downtown one afternoon. He greets her most cordially and praises her athletic son while bewildered neighbors look on. Later Tommy tells Mom that he's taking Dot Whitney, the millionaire's daughter, to a school dance. Mom recalls pleasant memories of the august Whitney family. . . .

CHAPTER FIVE

Then Charlie had gone off to college and Mom had lost track of him until the wedding. She had been married two years and already had Pete when the papers had all the fuss about Charlie Whitney's getting married to some girl over east. Everybody was dying to see her and when Charlie brought her home Mom used to make just excuses to go by the big house just to get a look at her. She was a pretty little thing with awful fancy clothes that made her look like one of those French dolls; but she must have been delicate because it wasn't long until she went into a decline and people said the place didn't agree with her. She was awful nice, too, and once when Mom was pushing Tommy along in his new buggy she stopped Mom and excused herself and made a big fuss over Tommy, particular over the way he looked back at her the same brave way he did at everybody.

Mrs. Charlie was so friendly that Mom told her about the good wish the old witch had put on the boy; and Mrs. Charlie was real interested and said she wished somebody would put a good wish on her, too; and then she broke right down and told Mom she had just come from the doctor's; and Mom was the first one to know but she kept it to herself because Mom was not the kind to run all over the street with something like that.

Sure enough, the poor thing had passed away when the baby was born. Everybody in town was sorry for poor Charlie and the motherless little girl. Mom had a cry all to herself because she knew all the poor sweet girl had had to go through; and Mom had known all along she wasn't long for this world. It was bad enough for anybody, Mom thought, but girls like that should never be made to have babies although Mom was never one to question God's will. But she couldn't help but wonder why it was that a sweet little mother like that, with everything in the world, had to go, while other people who didn't deserve children had them one after the other and paid no more attention to them than the cats—and yet they grew up big and strong.

Little Dorothy had had a good bringing up because Charlie's

mother had tended to that and she was a good woman but very stern and proud and had many times sent Mom scolding for nothing at all when she had been a little girl around the place. Then Old Charlie had died sudden and Charlie had to give so much of his time to the business that the little girl didn't have as much of a father, either as she should. She had everything, of course, but she didn't have a mother's love and a girl needed that more than a boy.

Some said she was spoiled with this-and-that; but Mom couldn't see it in her and she wouldn't have cared if she did; there were worse things in the world than a little spoiling for a child. And whenever Mom saw Dorothy she always said the day her sweet little mother had stopped to make a fuss over Tommy. The girl had her mother's eyes, pretty and melting, like the sun on the morning dew when the fog had not quite left the air; and there was that same little bit of sadness about them that always made Mom want to take the little girl to her and hold her real tight.

Of course she never had. Now and then she met Dorothy in a store or on the street but she always just smiled and so did Dorothy. Mom couldn't tell Dorothy that, in her mind, she was like her own daughter because of what the girl's mother had told her that day; and not even Pop ever knew how much Mom had wanted a little girl herself.

And now here was Tommy taking Dorothy to a dance. Somehow Mom felt that up in heaven Dorothy's mother was nodding and smiling to her; but Mom couldn't help but wonder what the proud old Grandmother would say.

Mom gradually became accustomed to being pointed out as the mother of the high school football star. She even grew to enjoy it because it gave her a feeling of superiority over the other neighbor ladies which she needed badly. Left alone, Mom was a peaceable person; but since Tommy had become so important around town some of the other women had tried to say things about him and Mom needed a coat of armor to fight them back.

She knew that Mrs. Farrell was

Warranted to Keep in a Cold Climate

By IRVIN S. COBB

BRAM STOKER, the friend and biographer of Sir Henry Irving, used to tell a story illustrative of his distinguished patron's well-known aversion to having any counter-attraction sharing the attention at a theatre during one of Sir Henry's performances. Sir Henry was playing his annual London engagement once when Nansen, in the height of his fame as an Arctic explorer, returned from an expedition from the Polar Regions. The curtain was just about to rise one evening when Stoker came behind the scenes with news that Nansen was sitting in the royal box. Irving received the news in silence. A few minutes later one of the members of the company bustled up to the star to tell him the same thing. Irving merely grunted. And right on the heels of this up came a fluttering woman "super" and said: "Ow, Sir Henry, did you know Nansen was in the 'ouse?" "Nansen? Nansen?" said Irving as though he were trying to remember who this person Nansen might be. "Oh, yes,—the chap who stands the cold so well!"

United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

THIS IS the time of year when every housewife should insist upon a careful inspection of all coal and gas stoves, gas tubing, gas jets and chimney flues.

Defective tubing and leaking stoves should be repaired to prevent gas poisoning. This is a serious health menace which is too often overlooked and neglected.

May I warn you against this danger? I want to stress the importance of safeguarding against gas poisoning. It is a common accident that sometimes proves fatal. In most instances the calamity could have been prevented.

Gas poisoning results from the inhalation of carbon monoxide. This is one of the most deadly gases known to mankind. It is found in natural gas, coal gas, illuminating gas and in the exhaust of automobiles. When inhaled, the blood undergoes sudden and serious chemical changes.

To Give First Aid

The poison strikes rapidly and unfortunately causes severe damage to the body within a very short time. This danger is great since the victim may be breathing the deadly gas while asleep. It is only when the escaping gas is detected that the sufferer may be aroused and saved from its deadly effects.

In former years little was known about the treatment of carbon monoxide, or gas poisoning. We are indebted to the World War for our present knowledge. Gas poisoning is a common accident of modern warfare and military surgeons have succeeded in cures that in former years were unknown.

In all cases of gas poisoning it is best to secure immediately the serv-

WASHINGTON-TWP SCHOOL NOTES

The Pumpkin show is over and we were very proud of our ability to carry off a number of the first and second premiums which were offered for prizes, in the school and general exhibits.

There are many boasts going around school as to the prizes which are going to be carried away next year by certain individuals. Although we won over twenty premiums, Cora Jones won a first on an apron; Roxey Chantler won a second on an apron; Helen Mast won a first in sixth grade writing; Lucille Norris, a second in sixth grade writing; Bernard Wolf, a second on a map of Ohio; Loquilla McDaniels, third on a map of Ohio, and first in fifth grade writing; Mary Beck, second in fifth grade writing; Fredrick Garrett, first and second in rope splicing; Albert Lovett, second on a table entered in the manual arts department; Thomas Reichelderfer first on a bird house made in the manual arts department; Marie parish, second in eighth grade writing; Sophia Peters, first on a quilt made in the Home Ec. Department; Mary Strawser, third on an apron made in the eighth grade Home Ec. class.

We are glad to report that Dorothy Dresbach, who is convalescing at Berger hospital from a serious appendicitis operation, is now improving very fast and expects to be back in school in a few weeks.

Mr. Boyer, Forest Croman, Ralph Diltz, David Adams, Albert Lovett, and Thomas Reichelderfer, motored to Columbus, Saturday, Oct. 7, and attended the Virginia-

Ohio State football game. We wish to take this opportunity to express our great appreciation to the officials of Ohio State University for the free admissions which we received because of the observance of High School Day.

Mr. Helvering, our janitor, is convalescing from a badly infected hand. He has had a small boil on his hand and after picking it open, blood poison is believed to have set in.

The Flying Clouds lost to the Westward Ho's in a magazine selling contest and according to their agreement they will be the host and hostess at a party given by them for the benefit of entertaining the Westward Ho's. The party will be held at the school house Thursday night at eight o'clock.

The Sophomore class is entering business for itself this week and carrying on a magazine contest all its own. They are attempting to obtain money to replenish their treasury for the purpose of financing their banquet which is to be given next year for the seniors.

The high school is planning on publishing its own school paper again. Many years have passed since Washington-twp has read its own school paper. It will be published monthly by a staff which will be elected next week. There will probably be a small charge on the paper at first so as to allay a small expense which was necessary to obtain the multigraph which it will be printed on.

The Parent-Teachers Association will sponsor a Hollowe'en Carnival at the school house, Friday evening, Oct. 20. All of you who remember the last Hollowe'en carnival held at Washington-twp school know that you are going to miss something if you do not come. There will be the same attractions as last year with a few additions. Every one is invited and every one is welcome. There will be prizes given for masked characters.

The Junior class is expecting their class rings soon. They ordered them at the beginning of school term. In the Grammar grade music classes we are studying the music of the Civil War period. In these grades we are studying orchestral instruments in addition to work in connection with the Radio Appreciation Hour programs.

if you want to
—keep bowels regular and comfortable
—make constipated spells rare as colds
—avoid danger of bowel strain

A doctor will tell you that the care-less choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form.

Can Constipation be Corrected?

"Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say thousands who have followed this sensible medical advice: 1. Select a good liquid laxative. 2. Take the dose that you find suited to your system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving regularly without assistance.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is no "convenience" in any cathartic that's taken so frequently, you must carry it wherever you go!

What is the "Right" Laxative?

In buying any laxative, read the label. Not the claims, but the contents. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescriptional

Why Doctors give a liquid laxative

The habitual use of irritating salts, or powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pills and tablets is risky.

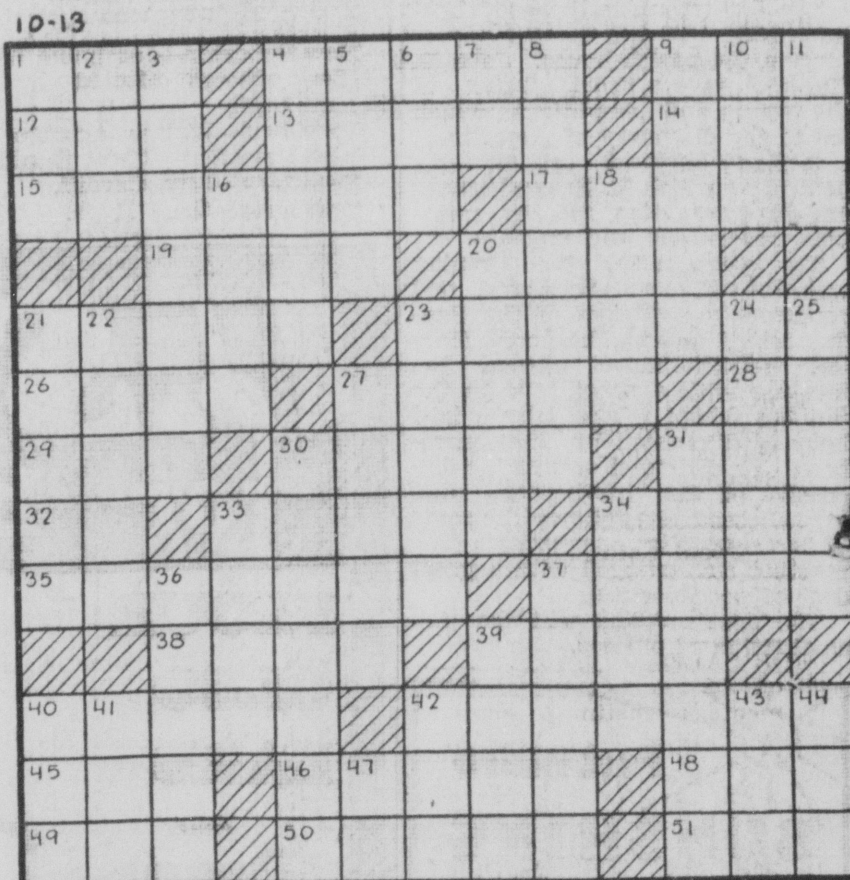

The properly prepared liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement without discomfort or injury. You need not take a "double dose" a day or two later.

The public can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drugstore.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO- ROUND

By
DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

The subsequent five-hour conference was one of the most extraordinary witnessed by the White House in years.

The President spoke bluntly and forcibly. Johnson even more so. At one point he shook his finger at the glaring steel men, staccatoed short, hot words. The President looked on with approving acquiescence.

For the better part of a day they fought and struggled. Both sides exchanged bitter words.

Once, Johnson turned on Eugene Grace, hard-boiled President of Bethlehem Steel, who had been vigorously shaking his head in the negative at everything the Recovery Administrator said.

"I wouldn't shake that too hard," Johnson snapped. "The first thing you know you'll lose it."

At another point Johnson waxed so emphatic that one of the steel operators angrily shouted: "You've got the upper hand now, but it won't always be that way. Our turn will come, and we'll remember this well."

"I'm No Bootlegger!"

Accused of being at the head of a gigantic bootleg ring, State Senator John L. The Senator asserted he was being "crucified and slaughtered" by henchmen of Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

October

By M. McM. Jones
"O jewel—crowned October birth.
The queen of all the year,
Resplendent in thy crimson robes, ancial writer, came to town recently for a long talk with Public Works Czar Ickes. As he rose to go, Flynn said: "What they should do is to put a national figure in charge of Public Works—Al Smith, for instance." The Democratic National Committee has returned a $5 campaign donation to Emilie, well-known Washington beauty shop. Twenty million young black locust seedlings were grown this summer by the Civilian Conservation Camps and will be planted this winter in northern Mississippi as a preventive against soil erosion. The Public Works Board is considering the financing of low-cost housing projects in a number of large industrial centers if local governmental agencies continue to delay in undertaking such construction.

Indiana friends of Meredith Nicholson, famous author, now Minister to Paraguay, presented him with a solid gold watch-fob that consisted of a tiny map of the South American country. Ascension, its capital, was marked by a diamond.

October was eighth month of old Roman year, named for the Roman numeral Octo, eight. By the Julian arrangement while retaining its old name became the tenth month and had thirty-one days assigned to it.

Jack Frost making up his palette, touching up the maple leaves. Bittersweet with its brilliant berries lures the way-farer from weed, cirsiums, thistle, light up the by-ways with their brilliant colors. Days grow short and nights grow long and cold. Fire light from blazing logs on open hearth, easy chair, a good book with a handy plate of apples, shut out the world and its problems. Visions of pumpkin pie flit thru the mind, nature is making ready for her winter nap.

Excursions to the woods for nuts delight the youngsters, while father is making cider and mother is preparing the mince meat for Thanksgiving, not far away.

October gave us four presidents: John Adams, 1735; R. B. Hayes, 1822; C. A. Arthur, 1830; Theodore Roosevelt, 1858.

Probably the most important event in our history during this month was the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus 1492.

Columbus Day has become an established holiday throughout the United States, generally observed with appropriate ceremonies.

This week our country with other countries is celebrating fire prevention week trying to teach people that fire is a good servant but a dangerous master. The fire started in Chicago by Mrs. O'Leary's cow is still spoken of as the Great Fire of Chicago 1871. In 1859 John Brown with a few followers marched upon Harper's Ferry in an effort to free the slaves.

It was in October that U. S. acquired both Alaska and Florida. Louisiana Purchase Treaty was ratified and opening up the Mississippi river to commerce and adding vast territory to U. S.

In October the first incandescent light and by the way Circleville was the first town of its size in the world to have its streets lighted with arc lights.

In 1915 the first radio message went across the Atlantic, the first boat on Erie Canal in 1819, the first steamer on Mississippi river.

From time immemorial the 31st of October has been observed by merry-makers as Halloween. Pranks of all kinds are played. Charms are tried and the spirit of mischief holds high carnival. Of purely local interest we have the Ohio History Day meeting at Logan Elm where thousands meet on the first Sunday in October to consider historical subjects.

The original Pumpkin Show, which has put Circleville definitely on the map, and brings people from all parts of the country to view the luscious fruit of the vine to say nothing of other attractions.

Refreshments were served to about one hundred members and visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. O'Brien and sons of Columbus were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wright and family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Clifton and son, Charles Jr., were Sunday guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. May, and daughter Atty. and Mrs. Charles May of Circleville, and Billie Peterson of Austin were additional afternoon guests.

PROGRESS TOWARD FARM ADJUSTMENT

PROGRESS TOWARD

Whirling adding machines in 88 county offices in Ohio are totaling the signatures of wheat growers on contracts with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The tally, but partly done, points toward a sign-up in the plan equal to 40 per cent of the total acreage devoted to the crop.

From 58 counties have come reports that 17,000 farmers have signed applications for contracts, stating their desire to curtail their wheat acreage 15 per cent this fall in return for benefit payments on that part of the crop that goes into domestic consumption as food. Kansas, the leading wheat producing state in the Union, announces that 11,791,427 acres out of a possible 12,541,000 are signed, 97 per cent of the wheat acreage. From all parts of the wheat-fallow wheat belt the sign-up reports indicate wholehearted support of the government plan.

Government's plan to purchase $75,000,000 of products for distribution to the 3,500,000 families on relief rolls in cities calls for the purchase of dairy products, poultry products, hogs, cotton, catfish and vegetables, and grains.

The plan does not merely divert farm products from one channel to another but opens up for the producer a channel that has been clogged for months. It makes possible, officials say, a consumption of goods in addition to the amount which would be distributed and sold this winter.

Piano Recital Attended By Large Crowd

The beautiful piano recital given at the First Presbyterian church, Thursday evening, by some of the students of Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, was a treat to all those who enjoy good music. There was a large audience which showed appreciation of the delightful program.

It was an excellent concert considering this was the first public appearance of most of the performers and Miss Clarke's ability as a teacher was finely demonstrated. All players showed both talent and finished training which brought flattering comments from the audience.

Fourteen students participated in the admirably chosen program. All the selections were of a fine type of music chosen from composers of all ages from Beethoven to Grainger. The numbers were played consistently in that each pupil showed thorough ground work and flexibility.

Loring Wittich, accomplished violinist, whose playing is always a delight, assisted on the program. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Clarke. His numbers included Polonaise de Concert by Wieniawski, The Dancing Doll by Poldini, Kreisler, and Spanish Dance by Thibaud.

Joanne Conyers opened the program with Minuet in G by Beethoven and The Swiss Music Box by Burton. She played with a clearness of tone and definite attack.

Pollyanna Friedman, who played with good sense of rhythm and fine style, rendered Vacation Franks by Clark and Tea-time Waltz by Austin. Shading and smoothness were outstanding in Romaine Herley's playing of The Wood-Nymph's Harp by Rea, and Sallor's March by Wadley was an entertaining number by Richard Weldon.

Helen McChord displayed fine finger work and played her first selection, Narcissus by Nevin, with a flower-like touch. Her second number, Valse Petite by Flick showed flexibility.

The Lark's Song by Tchaikovsky; Polonaise by Krentzlin and The Butterfly by MacLachlan were three entertaining numbers by Betty Jane Bach.

Martha Hitler, a beginner, made a favorable impression. She rendered Andalus by Pessard.

Wood-Nymphs Frolic by Barbour was a very pleasing number by Mary Jane Schlear who played her second number, Polish Dance by Schowenka with good expression.

Horace Gilmore played his selections with a definite touch. They were La Cinquantaine by Gabriel-Mori and Scarf Dance by Chaminade.

Alice Griner pleased the audience with her well-given number Souvenir by Drida and Rosemary Boggs rendered The Gondolier's (from Venezia) by Nevin. Good legato effects and flowing rhythm were outstanding in this number and with ease of manner she also entertained with German Dance by Beethoven.

Minuet by Paderewski and Country Gardens by Percy Grainger were artistically presented by Olive Bookwalter. She played with accuracy and smoothness.

Elizabeth Reber showed feeling and expression in her playing of Romance by Rubenstein and Minute Waltz by Chopin.

The splendid program was concluded with two numbers by Sylvester Bookwalter, whose playing brought forth many exclamations of approval. He rendered his first selection, Waltz in A flat major by Chopin, with a fine masculine touch and showed individuality and style in his playing of Shepherd's Hey by Percy Grainger.

Another recital will be given this evening at the Presbyterian church when Loring Wittich presents his violin pupils from Circleville, Lancaster and Chillicothe. The program starts at 8:15 o'clock to which the public is cordially invited.

OHIO SHERIFF'S KILLERS HUNTED

PICKREL SPEAKS HERE ON OLD AGE PENSIONS

U.S. TO GUARD TOUGHEST MEN ON ROCKY ISLE

S. C. Grant, Former Guard There, Vouches For Roughness of Place.

GRANT GUARD THERE
A local angle developed today in the selection of rocky Alcatraz Island, off the coast of California, for the nation's worst criminals when it was learned Sam C. Grant, local coal dealer, at one time served there as a guard.

Mr. Grant guarded military prisoners on Alcatraz for 30 days while he was a member of Company H, 1st Infantry in the U. S. army, in 1889.

He vouches for its ruggedness.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Alcatraz military prison, high on a rocky island in San Francisco Bay, has been selected as the spot where the country's toughest killers, kidnapers and racketeers will be confined after their conviction in federal courts.

Attorney General Cummings announced today.

TO SEND 600
Negotiations have been completed for its transfer to the department of justice. The military prisoners will be taken to other institutions. About 600 may be confined on Alcatraz Island.

Cummings contemplated the immediate transfer of about 75 prisoners from Atlanta prison and the same number from Leavenworth.

Habitual criminals of the type known to students of penology as recidivists, repeating crimes at every opportunity, will be taken to Alcatraz. Cummings pointed out that criminals who make trouble in the federal institutions, who continually attempt to escape, those not susceptible to rehabilitation, those who have influential outside contacts and who make business of a crime will be confined on the island.

Cummings said the island prison is about a mile from the nearest land, located on a precipitous island. The current is swift and escapes are practically impossible.

Explaining that about both Atlanta and Leavenworth prisons there has arisen a criminal element drawn to keep in contact with the prisoners, Cummings said it would be impossible to establish such groups about Alcatraz.

MOTORISTS HURT
Two Columbus motorists suffered painful injuries, one the possible loss of an eye, at midnight Thursday when an automobile and a truck collided near the Pickaway-Franklin county line.

Holly Ankrum, 32, of 2730 Sullivan-ave., and V. A. Lewis of the Harrisburg-plc, are the men injured.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff was called to the scene of the wreck and found a truck and a Graham-Paige badly wrecked. No one who knew anything about the collision could be found.

Coming back to Circleville, Sheriff Radcliff picked up a youth who gave him the name as James Steiner, 17½, Feiser-st, Columbus, who said the men in the Graham-Paige tossed him from the truck north of this city. He did not know their names, he said.

Radcliff is not certain whether the injured men were in the truck or the automobile.

DAVIS FREED BY U. S. JURY

Senator Leaves To Address Labor; Weeps As Verdict Is Delivered.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Acquitted of charges of violating the Federal anti-lottery laws to the cheers of a packed federal court room, U. S. Senator James J. Davis (R.) of Pennsylvania, today was enroute to Washington to address the American Federation of Labor convention.

Davis, director-general of the Loyd Order of Moose, and Theodore C. Miller, head of the propaganda department of the order, were freed on the lottery charges by a jury in United States District Court which deliberated three hours and five minutes after a trial lasting nearly a month.

The white-haired senator and former Secretary of Labor wept openly when the jury came in with its verdict.

Then, turning to Miller, he clasped the hands of his fellow official and hurried to thank the jurors for their decision.

"I offered my thanks to God when the verdict came in," Davis said as he left court. "I never lost my faith because I knew I was innocent."

The government claimed, during the trial, that Davis controlled the Moose organization department and had knowledge of charity balls and prize drawings conducted by the order in 1931 which the prosecution claimed were really lotteries.

LEGION, LABOR UNITY ASKED
Edward Hayes, New Commander, Says Organization Should Boost NRA.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Declaring the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor stood shoulder to shoulder on many national policies — anti-inflation, anti-communism, restriction of immigration, Edward A. Hayes, commander of the Legion, called for a coalition of the two organizations to fight for national recovery under the NRA in an address today before the A. F. of L. convention.

"The Legion, like Labor, also stands for a sound and stable currency," said Commander Hayes.

"The American service man wants to know that his dollar is going to buy the same amount each day. He does not want it to fluctuate."

"There may be some who will obtain advantages from inflation of the dollar but these advantages are not for the members of the A. F. of L. or the American Legion."

THUGS MURDER LIMA OFFICER; OUTLAW FREED

Jess Sarber's Wife, Deputy Put in Cell By Killers.

STATE IS AROUSED

John Dillinger, Bank Robber, Given Liberty.

LIMA, Oct. 13.—Intensive search was being conducted throughout Ohio today for three gunmen who invaded the Allen county jail here late yesterday, shot and fatally wounded Sheriff Jess Sarber and then released John Dillinger, 30, notorious bank robber, said to be wanted in three states.

The gunmen, along with Dillinger, who was being held in the county jail here to face charges in connection with the robbery of a bank at Bluffton, O., escaped without being sighted, leaving officials no clue as to which way they made their get-away.

Police and county officials throughout Ohio and particularly the central section of the state, however, were notified to be on the lookout for the gunmen. But no leads have been reported.

Sheriff Sarber declared to county agents that he had been told of the bandits' escape from "land," whom he had known for the 10 convicts who were in the Michigan City, Ind., last Sept. 15.

BRANDISHING WEAPONS
The gunmen escaped from the jail last night after Sheriff Sarber, who was on duty at the time, demanded to see the credentials of his visitors, one of them, the leader, drew a revolver and replied:

"These are all the credentials we need."

Sheriff Sarber started to reach for his revolver in his desk drawer but as he did so, the bandits, without warning fired point blank. The bullet struck Sarber in the abdomen.

Attracted by the shooting, Mrs. Sarber, wife of the sheriff, and

HORSE KILLS MAN, INJURES ANOTHER
Farm Home Near Amanda Scene of Thursday Evening's Tragic Accident

Mervin C. Harvey, of near Amanda, was found dead in the stall of a horse at his farm Thursday afternoon. He had been kicked to death. Harvey was found by his wife, Mrs. Minda Harvey.

It is believed Mr. Harvey fell under the horse while trying to remove harness and that the animal became frightened. Neighbors were called after the fatal accident was discovered and Homer Hedges, who tried to remove the harness was kicked and suffered a possibly fractured pelvis bone.

The deceased man had just returned from the fields with his team when he was killed.

The Harvey family is well known in Amanda and vicinity.

The deceased is survived by his widow; three sisters, Mrs. Glenn Strohl of Greensburg, O., Mrs. Ola Jinks of Laureville and Mrs. Sadie Wise of Lancaster, besides two brothers, John of North Berne and Clint of Detroit.

The funeral will be held Monday at 10 a. m. at the home with Rev. L. C. Shaver of Amanda and Rev. H. O. Harbaugh of New Holland officiating with interment in the Amanda-twp cemetery.

Need of Offense 'Tiger' Problem

With no game scheduled until Friday, the Circleville Tigers are trying to figure a system which will make the team an offensive threat. In three games played this year, all of which were lost, the Red and Black have scored one touchdown. That was against Holy Rosary high school, Columbus, which team went on to win 7-6.

The Tigers play Grandview's Bobcats here on Friday, Oct. 20. In another Central Buckeye league play. Whether or not Grandview is as strong as Bexley is yet to be determined but fans can rest assured the Grandview outfit will be no set-up. Bill Zwick, Grandview mentor, does not put out that kind of eleven.

The Tigers started their season by losing to Lancaster in a game in which only one first down was made for the locals. They then outplayed but lost to Little Holy Rosary. Next was the Bexley disaster.

The squad has been working diligently this week hoping to get into the victory column.

No game was scheduled for today, Friday the thirteenth.

Deputy Sheriff Sharpe rushed into the office. They were met by the gunmen, overpowered and forced into a jail cell. Then the gunmen went to Dillinger's cell and opened it with the keys they had taken from the body of the sheriff.

Although Sheriff Sarber had asserted a short time before his death that he had recognized one of the gunmen as "Harry Cope," an escaped convict from the Michigan City, Ind., prison, Indiana state police reported that no one by that name was among the convicts who broke out of the prison Sept. 26.

NOTE IS OBTAINED

Police recalled, however, that Dillinger had been suspected while being held by Dayton police recently following his capture, of having aided in the Indiana prison break. At the time of Dillinger's capture in Dayton, police seized a note which was said to have contained details of the escape plot. Dillinger had been identified in connection with several bank robberies, including one at Indianapolis, another at Farrell, Pa., and also one at Bluffton, O. He was captured last Sept. 22 at Dayton in the house of a woman who was said to be a sister of one of the convicts who escaped from the Indiana prison.

At the time of the capture, police at Dayton were reported to have found $2,604 in new currency, four revolvers, a rifle, a shotgun and two suitcases containing ammunition in Dillinger's room.

Search for Dillinger and the three gunmen who affected his release from the jail here was hampered today by the fact that there were no eye-witnesses to the affair. The gunmen made a clean get-away and it was not known in which direction they fled.

Vanderbilt Comes To Columbus; Carnegie, Kentucky Also Come to Ohio.

On the eve of a game that headlines the week-end college football program in Ohio, fans of the state and members of the Ohio State team as well looked back today at another game, one that stunned the football-conscious two years ago.

The game that is recalled so vividly is Ohio State's 1931 encounter with the Commodores of Vanderbilt University.

On that occasion a bewildered Ohio State team awoke at the half to find itself at the empty end of a 26-0 score. Staging a spirited rally in the second half, the Buckeye eleven piled up 21 points, not enough to escape defeat but enough to escape such an overwhelming trouncing.

Tomorrow Ohio State, which rode roughshod over Virginia in the Buckeye's opening game, will tackle Vanderbilt again. And although Ohio State will bump up against a much stronger team than the one defeated 75 to 0 last week, the Bucks should have little trouble in coming out on top.

Others In Action

The game holds chief interest in the state, but 33 other Ohio teams and a Buckeye conference eleven from across the way in W. Virginia will also see action this week-end in contests that should show more clearly which teams are the big threats in the respective conferences.

Several other inter-sectional games as well attract interest. Carnegie Tech comes to Ohio tomorrow to tackle Xavier, whose ball-toter, Jordan, is high man in scoring in the state with 31 points. Xavier, whose goal line has not been crossed this season, has rolled up 76 points in three games.

Ohio Wesleyan, which has beaten Heidelberg and Dayton goes to Syracuse in another of tomorrow's inter-sectional games.

Only one Buckeye Conference contest is on tap, but it will be closely watched because it should serve as a good test of the strength of a new team in the circuit and the defending champion, Marshall College, the Huntington, W. Va., newcomer in the Buckeye Conference which made a flashy entry into the circuit by tripping Wittenberg 19 to 0, will come to Oxford for a game with Miami, last year's champion. Miami held a strong Indiana team to one touchdown and beat Hanover 14 to 0 in its first two games of the season.

CISSELL TO FILL BOSTON INFIELD

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Bill Cissell will fill the hole left at second base when the Boston Red Sox released Marty McManus, former manager Cissell comes to Boston's Americans in a trade with the Cleveland Indians, in which Lloyd Brown, left-handed hurler, was sent to Cleveland.

Three Syndicates Working For Purchase of Club, It Is Claimed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The New York Giants, champions of the baseball world, will not only be sold, as stated exclusively by the International News Service several weeks ago, but the sale is slated to be consummated within two weeks.

One of three groups interested in the purchase of the club has accountants working on the club books this week. One group is a syndicate headed by A. C. Blumenthal, theatrical producer.

Another is two or three millionaires who actually had the club bought last April when one of the three died as they were about to sign the papers. The survivors are trying to find a third friend to take their dead partner's place.

The third prospective purchaser is Jack Whitney, multimillionaire sportsman of turf fame.

The best bid so far made for 74 per cent of the stock of the club is Whitney's $1,900,000.

This 74 per cent includes the 52 per cent of the total stock now owned by Charles A. Stoneman and the holdings of John J. McGraw and Judge Francis X. McQuade.

DARBY SCHOOL NOTES

Do not forget the high school play "A Poor Married Man" this Friday night at 8:15 p. m. Admission will be 10c and 20c.

Rev. Ensley gave a very interesting talk in Chapel last Friday morning. This was the first appearance of the new pastor in our school. We hope to hear him again on some future programs.

A party of sixty-eight attended the Virginia-Ohio State football game at the Ohio State Stadium last Saturday. They had a fine time but would have enjoyed the game more if the score had been closer.

The new Pupils' Reading Circle books have arrived and been distributed to the various rooms. We were able to purchase three books for each grade and five for the high school with the funds allotted to us by the Board of Education. A circulating schedule has been arranged whereby all the pupils in each of the grades will have an opportunity to read all the books in their respective grades, both at Darby and Era.

Leo Foster, a new pupil, has entered the Freshman Class, thus raising our enrollment in high school to 81.

The second regular meeting of the P. T. A. will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 18 at 8 p. m. A good program has been prepared, and Rev. Price of Harrisburg has been secured to give a talk. All interested in the welfare of the schools are invited to attend. A report on the membership drive will be made at that time.

This is the last week in the first six-weeks period and grade cards will be sent home next Wednesday for the first time this year. Now is the time to begin trying to remedy any trouble your child may be having with his school work. Consultation with the child's teacher and then the cooperation of the parents with the teacher will remedy practically any difficulty the child of average ability may have. Careful inspection of the report cards now may avert disaster next spring.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Dinunzio, quarterback, and Budkis, his understudy, are recovering from recent sickness and Syracuse will be in good shape to meet Ohio Wesleyan, tomorrow.

EMPLOYMENT AGAIN SHOWING INCREASE

COLUMBUS, Oct. 13.—For the sixth consecutive month, total employment gained in Ohio during September, it is shown in the monthly report of Ohio State University's bureau of business research.

September employment was 2.5 per cent above August and 38.9 per cent above the March low point.

"During this period of rising employment," the bureau says, "increases from the previous month amounted to 5.1 per cent in April, 6.6 per cent in May, 9.4 per cent in June, 5.9 per cent in July, 4.7 per cent in August, and 2.5 per cent in September. Thus since May, employment has continued to register gains each month, but at progressively lower rates.

"Employment in non-manufacturing industries in September recorded a gain of 7.1 per cent from August, due largely to a greater than usual gain in the retail and wholesale trade group. Manufacturing employment registered a gain of 1.9 per cent, while construction employment declined 2.2 per cent.

8 OF 11 INCREASE

"Eight of the 11 groups of manufacturing industries had employment increases last month, the report shows. The largest gain occurred in the machinery, paper and printing, and food products groups. In all 11 groups, employment was substantially above September, 1932. Twenty-two of 31 individual industries in the manufacturing group reported increase in employment for last month.

"September employment increases were noted in four of the eight chief cities," the bureau reports. "The increases amounted to 11.9 per cent in Toledo, 5.1 per cent in Cleveland, 4.7 per cent in Columbus and 3.2 per cent in Cincinnati, while decreases amounted to 1.1 per cent in Stark-co, 1.4 per cent in Dayton, 2.1 per cent in Youngstown, and 2.6 per cent in Akron. All eight cities reported appreciable gains over September, 1932. In the state outside these chief cities, September employment was 4.1 per cent above August, and 31.6 per cent above September of last year."

The bureau's statement is based on employment reports from 827 Ohio firms, of which 468 reported September increases, 251 decreases, and 108 no change from August.

Asparagus In Its Most Popular Form

To serve asparagus Hollandaise, modern cooks are following this new recipe: two tablespoons butter; two tablespoons flour; one cup milk; one half teaspoon salt; one fourth teaspoon white pepper; one fourth cup mayonnaise. Melt the butter in the double boiler and blend into the flour. Then add the milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth. Add the salt and pepper. Remove from the heat and slowly add the mayonnaise. Continue stirring. This makes one cup of sauce delicious with asparagus or broccoli or any other cooked green vegetables or fish.

Put more SUNSHINE days on your calendar

How many days in the month do you feel your best? You can add to these sunshine days by simply obeying nature's laws.

The first of these laws is regular elimination. Avoid common constipation by eating a delicious cereal.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help aid regularity. ALL-BRAN also contains twice the iron of an equal weight of beef liver.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. How much more pleasant than pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. Directions on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Sound Recovery

THE upward trend in America's foreign trade during the first six months of this year, as reported by the United States chamber of commerce, is evidence that industrial improvement is not confined to the United States. The fact that improvement is taking place in other countries can be taken as indicating that the upturn here has a sound foundation. Although sharp expansion of exports was in evidence since February, the chamber said, June saw the first gain over a corresponding month of the preceding year since September, 1929. This probably was the most significant feature of the report.

Credit for the general improvement in the United States was given to three factors: the general improvement in business tone and purchasing power of many of America's important foreign customers; a stronger competitive status of American exporters due to the depreciation of the dollar, and increased industrial activity in the United States.

"Exports for the second quarter of 1933," the chamber reported, "were 3 per cent larger by value than those of the first quarter. Normally there is a seasonal falling off of one to 10 per cent. May exports were 11 per cent above April, June 5 per cent above May. June also registered the first monthly gain over a corresponding month of the preceding year since September 1929."

"The total value of our exports for the first six months of 1933 amounted to $669,384,000, which was about 20 per cent below the value of the same half of 1932 and 63 per cent under the five-year average. On a value basis, 22 per cent of our 50 chief exports, all manufactured products, were larger in the first half of this year than a year ago, as follows: Lard, coal-tar products, agricultural machinery and implements, aircraft, cured hams and shoulders, rosin, paraffin wax, oilwell and refinery machinery, iron and steel scrap, spirits of turpentine, and accounting and calculating machines."

"On a quantity basis 42 per cent of the exports showed an increase. Out of 99 items 41 gained ranging from 0.5 per cent to 1,690 per cent. Most of these gains of increased trade occur in manufactured articles."

"These figures supply convincing proof that recovery is in progress."

The World series is also a relief measure. The gate received both the fans and the clubs.

Too Many Strikes

THE country has cause to view with deep concern the large number of strikes now afflicting various lines of industry.

It had been expected that the system of codes under which business has been placed would reduce labor disputes to a minimum, and that the resulting harmony would give impetus to general recovery. From one end of the country to the other, however, there are strikes and rumors of strikes. Men are refusing to work where work for them is available. Various reasons are given for the walk-outs. Some of the strikers are due to alleged code violations by employers.

It is an observable fact that strikes are more numerous in time of prosperity than in time of depression. The present labor disputes, therefore, are regarded by some as further evidence of returning prosperity.

It is hard to believe, though, that business recovery would not advance at a much more rapid pace if harmony instead of discord existed in the industrial world.

The duty is no less upon labor leaders than on the NRA to seek by all proper means to discourage strikes while business of all kinds is trying so hard to get upon its legs again. Machinery is provided in the industrial act for the settlement of disputes and this ought to be brought into operation without delay. Otherwise, a setback threatens to be given recovery at a time when the effects might be much more serious than labor officials think.

The fans did their part.

THAT'S MY BOY!

by FRANCIS WALLACE
 AUTHOR OF "HUDDLE"

SYNOPSIS

Tommy Randolph, future football hero, was "always different" even as a baby. Born in a tiny Middle West factory town, he was the delight of his humble parents, Mom and Pop. The latter, a durable Democrat, wanted to name the boy William Jennings Bryan, but Uncle Louie, another indubitable Democrat, prevailed in having the infant christened Thomas Jefferson. Sturdy little Tommy paid no attention to strange baby carriage ogles until Ole Lize, feared and aged colored woman, peered like a witch at him one day; he smiled, and Mom was amazed when the cackling crone put "a good wish" on him. . . . As Tommy grew, he was still "different," running away from a boy's job in the glassworks where Pop and his brother, Pete, worked. Tommy connected with the local News office and then shocked Pop by declaring he intended going to high school where he soon won renown about town at "the football," much to Mom's amazed pleasure. She meets Charlie Whitney, millionaire factory owner, as she is shopping downtown one afternoon. He greets her most cordially and praises her athletic son while bewildered neighbors look on. Later Tommy tells Mom that he's taking Dot Whitney, the millionaire's daughter, to a school dance. Mom reveals pleasant memories of the august Whitney family. . . .

CHAPTER FIVE

Then Charlie had gone off to college and Mom had lost track of him until the wedding. She had been married two years and already had Pete when the papers had all the fuss about Charlie Whitney's getting married to some girl over east. Everybody was dying to see her and when Charlie brought her home Mom used to make excuses to get a look at her. She was a pretty little thing with awful fancy clothes that made her look like one of those French dolls; but she must have been delicate because it wasn't long until she went into a decline and people said the place didn't agree with her. She was awful nice, too, and once when Mom was pushing Tommy along in his new buggy she stopped Mom and excused herself and made a big fuss over Tommy, particular over the way he looked back at her the same brave way he did at everybody.

Mrs. Charlie was so friendly that Mom told her about the good wish the old witch had put on the boy; and Mrs. Charlie was real interested and said she wished somebody would put a good wish on her, too; and then she broke right down and told Mom she had just come from the doctor's; and Mom was the first one to know but she kept it to herself because Mom was never the kind to run all over the street with something like that.

So enough, the poor thing had passed away when the baby was born. Everybody in town was sorry for poor Charlie and the motherless little girl. Mom had a cry all to herself because she knew all the poor sweet girl had had to go through; and Mom had known all along she wasn't long for this world. It was bad enough for anybody, Mom thought, but girls like that should never be made to have babies although Mom was never one to question God's will. But she couldn't help but wonder why it was that a sweet little mother like that, with everything in the world, had to go, while other people who didn't deserve children, had them one after the other and paid no more attention to them than the cats—and yet they grew up big and strong.

Little Dorothy had had a good bringing up because Charlie's

mother had tended to that and she was a good woman but very stern and proud and had many times sent Mom scolding for nothing at all when she had been a little girl around the place. Then Old Charlie had died sudden and Charlie had to give so much of his time to the business that the little girl didn't have as much of a father, either as she should. She had everything, of course, but she didn't have a mother's love and a girl needed that more than a boy.

Some said she was spoiled with this-and-that; but Mom couldn't see it in her and she wouldn't have cared if she did; there were worse things in the world than a little spoiling for a child. And whenever Mom saw Dorothy she always saw the day her sweet little mother had stopped to make a fuss over Tommy. The girl had her mother's eyes, pretty and melting, like the sun on the morning dew when the fog had not quite left the air; and there was that same little bit of sadness about them that always made Mom want to take the little girl to her and hold her real tight.

Of course she never had. Now and then she met Dorothy in a store or on the street but she always just smiled and so did Dorothy. Mom couldn't tell Dorothy that, in her mind, she was like her own daughter because of what the girl's mother had told her that day; and not even Pop ever knew how much Mom had wanted a little girl herself.

And now here was Tommy taking Dorothy to a dance. Somehow Mom felt that up in heaven Dorothy's mother was nodding and smiling to her; but Mom couldn't help but wonder what the proud old Grandmother would say.

Mom gradually became accustomed to being pointed out as the mother of the high school football star. She even grew to enjoy it because it gave her a feeling of superiority over the other neighbor ladies which she needed badly. Left alone, Mom was a peaceable person; but since Tommy had become so important around town some of the other women had tried to say things about him and Mom needed a coat of armor to fight them back.

She knew that Mrs. Farrell was Named the "Buck Jones Raucers," and founded when the intrepid cowboy star first reached his zenith of screen fame from a group of 5,000 youngsters who were his sincere admirers, the club has a membership of well over 2,000,000. Men advertise that they won't be responsible for debts contracted by their wives. A wife who "converts" her husband's "super" and "tract" rather than "expends" debts is something to advertise.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

Warranted to Keep in a Cold Climate

By IRVIN S. COBB

BRAM STOKER, the friend and biographer of Sir Henry Irving, used to tell a story illustrative of his distinguished patron's well-known aversion to having any counter-attraction sharing the attention at a theatre during one of Sir Henry's performances.

Sir Henry was playing his annual London engagement once when Nansen, in the height of his fame as an Arctic explorer, returned from an expedition from the Polar Regions. The curtain was just about to rise one evening when Stoker came behind the scenes with news that Nansen was sitting in the royal box. Irving received the news in silence.

A few minutes later one of the members of the company bustled up to the star to tell him the same thing. Irving merely granted. And right on the heels of this came a fluttering woman "super" and said: "Oh, Sir Henry, did you know Nansen was in the house?"

"Nansen? Nansen?" said Irving as though he were trying to remember who this person Nansen might be. "Oh, yes,—the chap who stands the cold so well!"

Winter Brings With It Danger of Gas Poisoning

Defective Tubing, Jets and Stoves Are a Constant Menace During the Indoor Season

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
 United States senator from New York
 Former Commissioner of Health,
 New York City

THIS IS the time of year when every housewife should insist upon a careful inspection of all coal and gas stoves, gas tubing, gas jets and

Defective tubing and leaking stoves should be repaired to prevent gas poisoning. This is a serious health menace which is too often overlooked and neglected.

May I warn you against this danger? I want to stress the importance of safeguarding against gas poisoning. It is a common accident that sometimes proves fatal. In most instances the calamity could have been prevented.

Gas poisoning results from the inhalation of carbon monoxide. This is one of the most deadly gases known to mankind. It is found in natural gas, coal gas, illuminating gas and in the exhaust of automobiles. When inhaled, the blood undergoes sudden and serious chemical changes.

To Give First Aid

The poison strikes rapidly and unfortunately causes severe damage to the body within a very short time. This danger is great since the victim may be breathing the deadly gas while asleep. It is only when the escaping gas is detected that the sufferer may be aroused and saved from its deadly effects.

In former years little was known about the treatment of carbon monoxide, or gas poisoning. We are indebted to the World War for our present knowledge. Gas poisoning is a common accident of modern warfare and military surgeons have succeeded in cures that in former years were unknown.

In all cases of gas poisoning it is best to secure immediately the services of a physician. Improper handling or unfamiliarity with the condition may lead to serious complications. Until the physician arrives, clear the room of the gas and allow the sufferer to have as much fresh air as possible. Keep him well covered with blankets. A good plan is to place hot water bags at his feet.

Check Gas Tubing and Jets

Do not move the victim or allow him to walk. It is best to leave the patient in a recumbent position. Any slight exertion may damage the heart.

It is often necessary to resort to the use of artificial respiration. This is essential if there is difficulty in breathing. At times oxygen and carbon dioxide tanks are needed to save the life of the victim. Most municipalities and large cities are equipped with the proper machines for this method of resuscitation.

Like many other serious menaces to life and health, carbon monoxide poisoning is far easier to prevent than cure. As I have said, it is advisable to check carefully on leaky gas and stove pipes, tubing and jets. Prompt repairs will prevent gas leakage and danger to your health.

IT AIN'T always fair to see ourselves as others see us, because sometimes the others see wrong.

Now, for instance, this here Mrs. Ackey was at a card party at Mrs. Bugg's house, and Mrs. Bugg says, "I hear, Mrs. Ackey, that you been telling around that Mr. Bugg beats me."

"My goodness, Mrs. Bugg," says Mrs. Ackey, "who told you that?" "Why, Mrs. Hanger tells me you told her and all the other neighbors in the block."

Ohio State football game. We wish to take this opportunity to express our great appreciation to the officials of Ohio State University for the free admissions which we received because of the observance of High School Day.

Mr. Helvering, our janitor, is convalescing from a badly infected hand. He has had a small boil on his hand and after picking it open, blood poison is believed to have set in.

The Flying Clouds lost to the Westward Ho's in a magazine selling contest and according to their agreement they will be the host and hostess at a party given by them for the benefit of entertaining the Westward Ho's. The party will be held at the school house Thursday night at eight o'clock.

The Sophomore class is entering business for itself this week and is carrying on a magazine contest all its own. They are attempting to obtain money to replenish their treasury for the purpose of financing their banquet which is to be given next year for the seniors.

The high school is planning on publishing its own school paper again. Many years have passed since Washington-twp has read its own school paper. It will be published monthly by a staff which will be elected next week. There will probably be a small charge on the paper at first so as to alay a small expense which was necessary to obtain the multigraph which it will be printed on.

The Parent-Teachers Association will sponsor a Halloween Carnival at the school house, Friday evening, Oct. 20. All of you who remember the last Halloween carnival held at Washington-twp school know that you are going to miss something if you do not come. There will be the same attractions as last year with a few additions. Every one is invited and every one is welcome. There will be prizes given for masked characters.

The Junior class is expecting their class rings soon. They ordered them at the beginning of school term. In the Grammar grade music classes we are studying the music of the Civil War period. In these grades we are studying orchestral instruments in addition to work in connection with the Radio Appreciation Hour Programs.

if you want to
 —keep bowels regular and comfortable
 —make constipated spells rare as colds
 —avoid danger of bowel strain

A doctor will tell you that the careless use of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form.

Can Constipation be Corrected?

"Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say thousands who have followed this sensible medical advice: 1. Select a good liquid laxative. 2. Take the dose that you find suited to your system. 3. Gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving regularly without assistance.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels as regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is no "convenience" in any cathartic that's taken so frequently, you must carry it wherever you go!

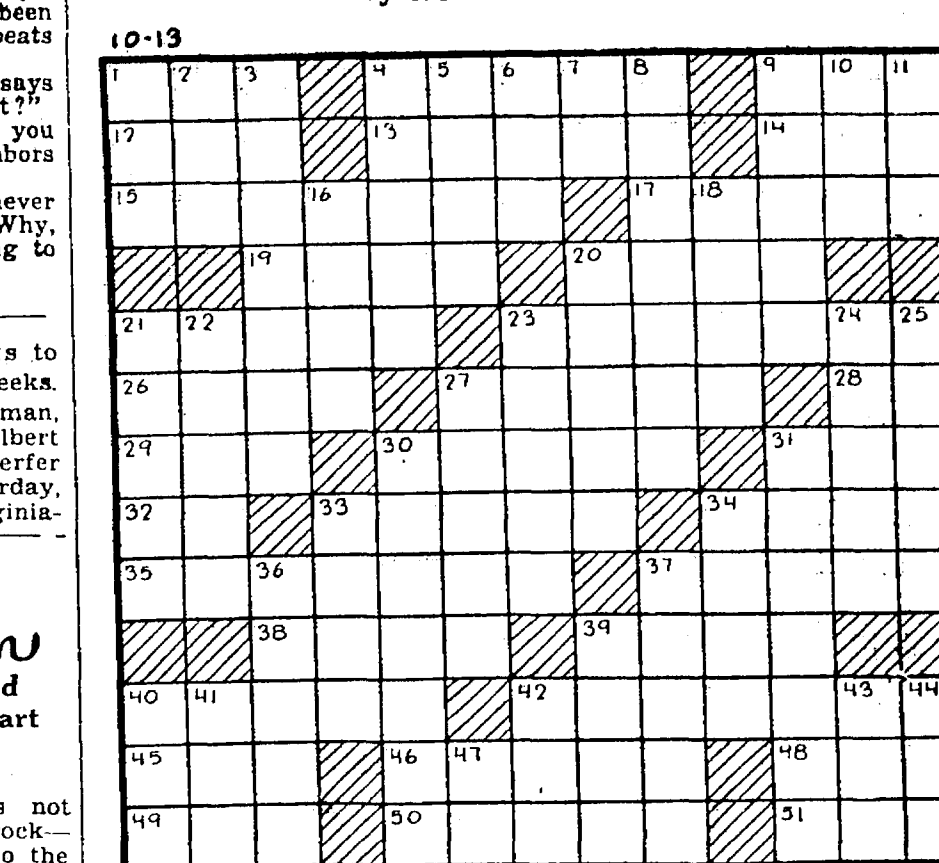

What is the "Right" Laxative?

In buying any laxative, read the label. Not the claims, but the contents. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescriptional

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

The subsequent five-hour conference was one of the most extraordinary witnessed by the White House in years.

The President spoke bluntly and forcefully. Johnson even more so. At one point he shook his finger at the glaring steel men, staccatoed short, hot words. The President looked on with approving acquiescence.

For the better part of a day they fought and struggled. Both sides exchanged bitter words.

Once, Johnson turned on Eugene Grace, hard-boiled President of Bethlehem Steel, who had been vigorously shaking his head in the negative at everything the Recovery Administrator said.

"I wouldn't shake that too hard," Johnson snapped. "The first thing you know you'll lose it."

At another point Johnson waxed so emphatic that one of the steel operators angrily shouted: "You've got the upper hand now, but it won't always be that way. Our turn will come, and we'll remember this well."

"I'm No Bootlegger!"

Accused of being at the head of a gigantic bootleg ring, State Senator John L. McClure, of Delaware County, Pa., is shown in court at Philadelphia as he denied the charges brought by Federal authorities. The Senator asserted he was being "crucified and slaughtered" by henchmen of Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

THE MONTHS IN HISTORY

October

By M. Moll Jones

"O jewel—crowned October birth. The queen of all the year, Resplendent in thy crimson robes, ancient writer, came to town, recently for a long talk with Public Works Czar Ickes. As he rose to go, Flynn said: "What they should do is to put a national figure in charge of Public Works—Al Smith, for instance." The Democratic National Committee has returned a $5 campaign donation to Emile, well-known Washington beauty shop. Twenty million young black locust seedlings were grown this summer by the Civilian Conservation Camps and will be planted this winter in northern Mississippi as a preventive against soil erosion. The Public Works Board is considering the financing of low-cost housing projects in a number of large industrial centers if local governmental agencies continue to delay in undertaking such construction. Indiana friends of Meredith Nicholson, famous author, now Minister to Paraguay, presented him with a solid gold watch-fob that consisted of a tiny map of the South American country. Ascension, its capital, was marked by a diamond.

It was in October that U. S. acquired both Alaska and Florida. Louisiana Purchase Treaty was ratified and opening up the Mississippi river to commerce and adding vast territory to U. S.

In October the first incandescent light and by the way Circleville was the first town of its size in the world to have its streets lighted with arc lights.

In 1915 the first radio message went across the Atlantic, the first boat on Erie Canal in 1819, the first steamer on Mississippi river.

From time immemorial the 31st of October has been observed by merry-makers as Halloween. Pranks of all kinds are played. Charms are tried and the spirit of mischief holds high carnival. Of purely local interest we have the Ohio History Day meeting at Logan Elm where thousands meet on the first Sunday in October to consider historical subjects.

The original Pumpkin Show, which has put Circleville definitely on the map, and brings people from all parts of the country to view the luscious fruit of the vine to say nothing of other attractions.

PROGRESS TOWARD FARM ADJUSTMENT

PROGRESS TOWARD

Whirling adding machines in 58 county offices in Ohio are totaling the signatures of wheat growers on contracts with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The tally, but partly done, points toward a sign-up in the plan equal to 40 per cent of the total acreage devoted to the crop.

From 58 counties have come reports that 17,000 farmers have signed applications for contracts, stating their desire to curtail their wheat acreage 15 per cent this fall in return for benefit payments on that part of the crop that goes into domestic consumption as food.

Kansas, the leading wheat producer, has the largest number of wheat growers in the state in the plan.

Government's plan to purchase $75,000, 000 of products for the tribute to the 3,000,000 soldiers on relief rolls in cities calls for the purchase of dairy products, poultry products, hogs, cotton, cattle, fruits and vegetables, and grains.

The plan does not merely divert farm products from one channel to another but opens up for the producer a channel that has been clogged for months. It makes possible, officials say, a consumption of goods in addition to the amount which would be distributed and sold this winter.

Piano Recital Attended By Large Crowd

A beautiful piano recital was given at the First Presbyterian church, Thursday evening, by Miss Abbe Mills Clarke, a treat to all who enjoy good music. There was a large audience which showed appreciation of the beautiful program.

It was an excellent concert considering this was the first public appearance of most of the performers and Miss Clarke's ability as a teacher was finely demonstrated. All players showed both talent and finished training which drew flattering comments from the audience.

Fourteen students participated in the admirably chosen program. All the selections were of a fine type of music chosen from composers of all ages from Beethoven to Grainger. The numbers were played consistently in that each pupil showed thorough ground work and flexibility.

Loring Wittich, accomplished pianist, whose playing is always a delight, assisted on the program. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Clarke. His numbers included: "Polonaise de Concert" by Chopin; "The Dancing Doll" by Schumann; and "Spanish Dance" by Thibaud.

Joanne Conyers opened the program with Minuet in G by Beethoven and "The Swiss Music" by Burdon. She played with a sweetness of tone and definite attack.

Pollyanna Friedman, who played with good sense of rhythm and fine style, rendered "Vacation Franks" by Clark and Tea-time Waltz by Loring Wittich. Shading and smoothness were outstanding in Romain Hervey's playing of "The Wood-Nymph's Harp" by Rea, and "Salor's March" by Wadley was an entertaining number by Richard Weldon.

Helen McChord displayed fine finger work and played her first selection, "Narcissus" by Nevin, with a flower-like touch. Her second number, "Valse Petite" by Flicke showed flexibility.

"The Lark's Song" by Tchaikovsky, "Polonaise" by Krentzlin and "The Butterfly" by MacLachlan were three entertaining numbers by Betty Jane Bach. Martha Hitler, a beginner, made a favorable impression. She rendered "Andalou" by Pessard. Wood-Nymph's Frolic by Barbour was a very pleasing number by Mary Jane Schiear who played her second number, Polish Dance by Schowenka with good expression.

Horace Gilmore played his selections with a definite touch. They were La Cinqtaine by Gabriel-Mori and Scarf Dance by Chaminade.

Alice Griner pleased the audience with her well-given number. Souvenir by Drda and Rosemary Boggs rendered "The Gondolier's" (from Venezia) by Nevin. Good legato effects and flowing rhythm were outstanding in this number and with ease of manner she also entertained with German Dance by Beethoven.

Minuet by Paderewski and Country Gardens by Percy Grainger were artistically presented by Olive Bookwalter. She played with accuracy and smoothness.

Elizabeth Reber showed feeling and expression in her playing of Romance by Rubenstein and Minute Waltz by Chopin.

The splendid program was concluded with two numbers by Sylvester Bookwalter, whose playing brought forth many exclamations of approval. He rendered his first selection, Waltz in A flat major by Chopin, with a fine masculine touch and showed individuality and style in his playing of Shepherd's Hey by Percy Grainger.

Another recital will be given this evening at the Presbyterian church with Loring Wittich presenting his violin pupils from Circleville, Lancaster and Chillicothe. The program starts at 8:15 o'clock to which the public is cordially invited.

SCIOTO-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

Last week the pupils of the first grade decorated the sand table and made it into an attractive Indian farm. They also planted grass seed around the wigwams.

Plans are being made for decorating the first grade room for Halloween. A party for the mothers is also being planned for Oct. 30.

The first graders are about to complete the work in the Elson pre-primer and start reading from the primers.

Ellabelle Redman and Abigail Adkin have been elected as heads of the two sides in the Health Club of the first grade.

Earnest Porter has now enrolled in the first grade which makes a class of 31, 18 boys and 13 girls. The second grade is making Indian necklaces. Everyone who gets a perfect grade in spelling gets to add a new bead to his necklace each day.

Louell Finch and Beatrice Willoughby had the nearest writing papers from the third grade. Their papers were on exhibition at the Pumpkin Show.

Patricia Anna Dennis and Elizabeth Dennis were chosen as leaders for marching. Sides were chosen and the score is now 8 to 8. These girls are both in the third grade.

Ned Wilson visited in the third grade on Wednesday.

The fourth grade has been working hard to master their carrying addition combinations. The goal they have set up for themselves is 55 combinations in 3 minutes. So far those that have arrived at this goal are: Dale Martin, Helen Hinton, Leota Sproule, Elvin Layton, Elwin Beavers, Gladys Bowshier, Harry Bowshier, Ovid Timmons, Thelma Graves, Betty Welsh, and Isabel McGhee.

The fourth grade has been working on a unit, "Indian Life in our Country." This leads to the discussion of how Indians lived in other parts of our country. Richard Willoughby and Mack Drake are building a Pueblo Village. They are getting their ideas from the book, "Swift Eagle of the Rio Grande" by Elizabeth Dehuff.

Those who have had perfect attendance so far this year in the fifth grade are: Gynell Bethards, Martha Boyse, Opal Carfrey, Jack Clifton, Glenn Davie, Warren Dennis, Earnest Graves, Glenn Haughn, W. Hennick, Marjorie Hill, Wanda June Hudson, Louise
